

Top 3 News Items!

1. The project team is currently working on Colleague Core with the vendor, Ellucian. Core is the foundation upon which all the modules of Colleague rely. We are currently configuring this Core module where a big part of this work is creating data entry standards as well as creating and defining security standards.
2. Part of the process of configuring the new system is to consult with the users of the other Colleague modules that are already being used here at Acadia in Finance, HR and Advancement.
3. In addition to the 2 members of the team on secondment to the project, we have formed a small group of academic administrative assistants to help with sharing information with their peers and to also inform on day to day activity within the academic functions.
